M. I. Nova Estate, Set at $90,000, Goes to Family

Nothing for Judge Since He Was Well-to-do When Father Executed Will

Morris I. Nova, father of County Judge Algeron I. Nova, left an estate worth about $90,000, according to his lawyers, Rubinstein & Rosling. He died Nov. 25. The petition filed with the will yesterday put the value of the estate at not more than $20,000.

Mrs. Nellie Nova, the widow, of 3062 E. 2d St., is to receive $2,000 outright and the income from one-sixth of the residue.

Two sons, Jules and Harry, are each to receive the income from one-sixth of the residue during their life; another one-sixth is to be paid outright to a son, Saul C. Nova of 268 Ashland Place, and two-sixths to Barnett J. Nova, son of the Judge.

Upon the deaths of Mrs. Nova, Jules and Harry, Barnett will receive two-thirds and Saul one-third of the remainder.

Judge Nova was not mentioned in the will, but the estate attorneys explained he was well situated financially at the time the will was made.

Woytchoowsky Estate to Widow

Frank Woytchoowsky of 1170 39th St., who died Nov. 4, wills all of his estate to his widow, Olga. It is valued at more than $12,000.

S. H. Conklin Left $10,000

Sylvanus H. Conklin of 234 Van Buren St., who died Oct. 21, left an estate valued at more than $10,000, according to his will, filed for probate yesterday. He was in the coporting business and for more than 30 years was a teacher in St. John's Methodist Church Sunday School.

All the property, under the terms of the will, goes to the widow, Jennie.

Gets Property to Children

Ottilia Geis of 36 Bleecker St., who died Nov. 26, disposed of an estate valued at about $9,800 in her will. Five children are to get $1,400 each, a stepdaughter, Mary G. Fullhardt of 1709 Hamilton St., $1,500, and a stepson, Peter J. Geis of Baldwin, L. I., $500.

Mrs. Cooke's Will

Mrs. Rose Hoyler Cooke of 1 W. 72d St., Manhattan, who died Nov. 25, left most of her estate, of undetermined value, to her husband and two sons of a previous marriage, it was disclosed yesterday with the filing of her will. Her husband, William Wilbur James Cooke, is the President of Presbyterian Hospital at Middletown, N. Y., receives $50,000, jewelry and the life income from one-third of the residue.

Upon his death, the principal is to be divided between the sons, David Hoyler of 1834 Meridian Ave., Miami Beach, Fla., and Coulter D. Hoyler of 91 Church St., Charleston, S. C., who also get outright legacies of one-third of the residue, $50,000 each and personal and household effects. Mrs. Cooke also left $66,667 to the heirs of her deceased son, Frank DeK. Hoyler.

George Robinson, 66, Lawyer, Dies

Special to The Eagle

East Patchogue, Dec. 2—George Lupton Robinson, 66, a member of one of East Patchogue's oldest families, died Friday night at the Mather Memorial Hospital in Port Jefferson where he was taken yesterday morning after being stricken suddenly.

Mr. Robinson was a lawyer with offices in Manhattan. He was born in East Patchogue but lived 25 years of his life in Brooklyn.

Funeral services are to be held Monday from his home here. The Rev. Ralph E. Dunham, pastor of the Patchogue Congregational Church, is to officiate. Burial will take place in Cedar Grove Cemetery.

Eleanor D. Dorman

Eleanor Derian Dorman, formerly of Brooklyn, youngest daughter of Samuel Dorman died Friday evening after an illness of two years. She is survived by her father and three sisters, Mrs. Marjorie Dorman Hines, Roberta Dorman and Mrs. Louise Leonard. The body will be cremated. Next Spring a funeral service and burial of the ashes will be held in the family cemetery in Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. D. G. Slattery

Mrs. Helen A. Slattery, 41, wife of Daniel G. Slattery of New Market, N. J., died unexpectedly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Wilgus, 183-05 Manila Ave., St. Albans, early yesterday. Mrs. Slattery was born in Little Falls, N. J. Before her marriage 35 years ago she was Helen Schneider, of Brooklyn, a public school teacher. Mr. Slattery was a former New York newspaperman and was private secretary to Gen. Theodore A. Bingham when he was Police Commissioner of New York and during the World War a captain in the U. S. Army. Mrs. Slattery also is survived by a son, Arthur Slattery of Brooklyn.

Burial will be in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery, Plainfield, on Monday, after a requiem mass at St. John's Catholic Church in Dunellen, N. J.

LaGuardia Backs Campaign to Aid Jobless Women

Writes Letter to Chairman of NRA Division Pledging Full Co-operation

The women's re-employment program of the Women's Division of the NRA was approved by Fiorello H. LaGuardia, Mayor-elect, in a message made public yesterday in which he expressed regret at being unable to attend the convention to be held Monday at the Hotel Biltmore. The convention has been called for the purpose of gathering leaders of clubs of women together to emphasize the purposes and functions of the NRA.

LaGuardia in a letter to Miss Emma Dot Partridge, chairman of the division, pointed out that one of the more important problems he is considering was that of returning thousands of unemployed men and women to work.

LaGuardia Letter

"I take it that this last problem is also very much in your minds and I want to say to the women assembled at your convention that I have as much interest in the unemployed woman, who must be self-supporting, who very often also has family responsibilities, as I am in the unemployed man," LaGuardia wrote.

"The new administration will stand by the promises which were made during the campaign. The problem of re-employment for women will be one of its serious concerns. The new administration will certainly co-operate in the fullest measure with the Federal administration in all its efforts for re-employment."

May Legalize Illicit Rum

session would be prima facie evidence of guilt, and persons applying for permits would be inviting investigation and possible arrest.

Seek Way Out

The administration's liquor control council is endeavoring to find some means of evading such developments. A method will be sought under which illicit liquor can be taxpaid after Dec. 5, the date of repeal of the 18th Amendment.

Private possession of pre-repeal stocks are not causing the Government as much concern as the large wholesale concerns. It is assumed that private citizens will either drink up their pre-repeal stock or perhaps even pour it down the sink.

Serious Problem

The large stocks of illegal beverages assumed to be still in the hands of bootleggers and smugglers are considered to be a serious problem. These racketeers, it is felt, will be certain to attempt to dispose of their supplies, illegally if no legal method is available. This would threaten a continuation for some time after repeal of the illicit liquor traffic, unless some means can be found of making bootleg liquor legal.

Whether violation of the Volstead Act, committed during the time that this act was valid could expose the offender to prosecution after the act becomes ineffective upon repeal of the 18th Amendment, is a fine question that is troubling the Department of Justice.

Rope and Gas Fail, Suicide Uses Gun

Paul A. Weigelt, 65-year-old window cleaner, ended his life with a pistol shot yesterday in his tenement room apartment at 503 E. 16th St., Manhattan, after he had failed at hanging himself and grown tired of waiting for asphyxiation by gas.

His body was found at 12:45 o'clock by H. S. Stewart, a rent collector. Stewart traced the odor of gas to Weigelt's flat and entered with the superintendent. Weigelt was found on the kitchen floor, a bullet wound in his right temple and a 25-caliber Mauser automatic pistol alongside him.

Gas was escaping from the pipe that feeds the gas range. Around the dead man's neck was a noose. His shoes had a length of thin rope. A similar bit tied to the partition pole between the kitchen and the bedroom, and the overturned basket beneath it, indicated that the rope had parted after Weigelt had swung clear of the basket.

Mob Threatens To Kill 2 Families In MineDisorder

Police Use Tear Gas to Disperse Crowd Angered Over Labor Issue

Nemacolin, Pa., Dec. 2 (AP)—Police used tear gas today to disperse a crowd of 600 which they said had threatened to kill two families after demanding an election of representatives at the Buckeye Coal Company mine, largest captive mine in Greene County. The officers said officials of the company also were threatened.

The mine is owned by the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and has been closed for several weeks.

Leaders of the crowd, composed principally of the wives of men who formerly were employed in the mine, said the elections to select workers' representatives to fix wages and bargaining arrangements, should be held despite the fact the mine closed.

C. M. Lingle, general manager of the company, declared the elections would not be held until after the mine reopens, and that he did not know when that would be.

Mob Starts March

The crowd began its march on the mine in mid-morning and gathered momentum until after noon then a score of police and deputies responded to a call for assistance.

Sheriff James Wight said the crowd threatened to kill the two families after being told they favored election of representatives of a company union rather than members of the United Mine Workers of America.

The families were escorted out of town by deputy sheriffs while police laid down the barrage of tear gas bombs.

mile tomorrow, and also issue the first of the anticipated 1,800 store permits.

Many applicants for the latter, Mulconey said, are doomed to disappointment if they expect to be licensed to open when Repeal becomes fact with the action of the Utah convention between 2 and 3 p.m. New York time, Tuesday. Licenses are ready for the majority of 900 premises that have already been inspected, and two or three hundred more may be passed upon in time to permit the applicants to put in stocks. The remainder will pass to work until later in the week for their papers.

Brooklyn Licenses

Three Brooklyn hotels, three clubs and six restaurants in the borough were among those which received approval for licenses yesterday. These included the Bossert, St. George and Belmont hotels, the Holly Club, the Midwood Athletic Club and Lexington Council, K. C.

The restaurants included Joseph Surbeck's Roman Gardens, Kenny's and Fellman's on Coney Island, Trommer's, Fehrmann's and Seile's.

The State board announced five department stores have applied for retail stores. No. 3 being recorded Abraham & Straus in Brooklyn. R. H. Macy & Co. received license No. 1, followed by Gimbel's, Hearn's and Bloomingdale's.

Heading the arrival of foreign ships with liquor cargoes, the Albert Rollin docked yesterday with 2,000 cases of Heislieg wines, while other ships were expected early next week. Restaurants and hotels with extensive plans planned for Tuesday and Wednesday, were reported to have had no difficulty placing orders for immediate delivery Tuesday afternoon.

Wires were sent to the President and the 48 Governors yesterday by William Morris, president of the National Institute of Social Dancing, asking that Dec. 5 be proclaimed a national holiday in States in which repeal is effective.

A Line on Liners

There's a 'Black Sheep' in Every Joy—Even Repeal

By HARRY PRICE

Tuesday will be here quicker than that . . . But watch out, my children, there's still a black sheep in the turbulent gurgings that will follow . . . It is none other than a mixture of bad wines, alcohol and glycerine . . . A dangerous concoction—and not a fantasy, as you might think at first reading . . . List to C. F. Bertelli, president of the Trans-Europa Corporation, who sailed in French Line's Champlain yesterday to explain the liquor code to French firms and to take orders for American wines and liquors . . . I'll repeat the last of that for emphasis—to take orders for American wines and liquors.

Says Bertelli: "They did a beautiful job (NRA Liquor Code) and importers are greatly pleased.

. . . Only one thing that should, be in it was omitted . . . That is, a strict Bureau of Standards to enforce regulations as to quality, so that inferior and injurious wines, could not come into the country . . . I know of firms who plan to fool the American public with, very cheap wines. . . .

"Some of these firms, who operate ates on a shoestring, plan to get wines so bad that they cannot be sold in France, and add alcohol and glycerine. Such wines are dangerous to drink."

For the next year, Bertelli adds, the American supply probably will not keep up with the demand, but within two or three years undoubtedly there will be a considerable surplus of American wines and liquors . . . Vintners and distillers planning huge-scale production . . . Same expert opinions connected title will turn for better after repeal . . . shipping and hotels among the many industries to benefit . . . Importers have more orders than they can fill . . . Wine quota plan a good weapon for trade with foreign nations.

'Scottsboro Case' Conviction Draws Sharp Criticism

Committee Make Public Protests to Judge and on Decision of Jury

The third "Scottsboro case" conviction in Alabama last week, finding Heywood Patterson again guilty, met with sharp criticism yesterday from liberal and Negro leaders. Statements made public by the National Committee for the Defense of Political Prisoners follow:

Fannie Hurst—The entire nation is on trial along with these young Americans. Discrimination against the Negro is one of the foul aspects of our national picture.

Waldo Frank, essayist and novelist—Some day the South will awaken to the fact that human beings, regardless of color, must be treated as such. The entire conduct of the trial of Patterson has amazed by its obvious unfairness.

Paul Green, author—For three years now the State of Alabama, the South, and the nation have failed to discharge their duty to these innocent victims.

Alfred H. Birsch, secretary of the committee—Once more we see that there is no justice for the Negro in the South.

Charles Rumford Walker, former editor of the Atlantic Monthly (in telegram to Judge W. W. Callahan, the trial jurist)—I protest against your conduct in the Scottsboro case, urge reconsideration of the legal rights of the defendant.

Lincoln Steffens—Too bad. Not unexpected. Caused by growing violent Fascist elements down South and out West.

Carleton Beals, author of "The Crime of Cuba"—The Scottsboro boys are being railroaded to the gallows. The Scottsboro trial will add a new record to the collapse of American justice and fair play.

The committee telegraphed to Judge Callahan that the case will be appealed again and "we believe public opinion will eventually bring justice to these defendants in spite of Alabama officials."
